

DISCLAIMER

The material on this web site has been prepared and is copyrighted by Levy Phillips & Konigsberg, LLP (Levy Phillips). The material is for general informational purposes only and does not constitute medical or legal advice. This website is not intended to be a source of solicitation or legal advice nor should it be the bases of legal hiring decisions. The reader should not consider this information to be an invitation for an attorney-client relationship and should always seek advice on legal matters from competent counsel.

The material is not guaranteed to be correct, complete or up to date. Information provided by or cited to third parties does not necessarily reflect the opinions of Levy Phillips or any of its attorneys or clients.

Levy Phillips will, to the full extent permitted under the law, protect your name and confidential information against disclosure, publication or unauthorized use.

Levy Phillips has offices in the states of New York and New Jersey. Members of the firm are licensed to practice in New York and New Jersey and also practice in federal district courts throughout the United States. We also have affiliations in particular cases with attorneys licensed to practice in many state courts in the United States. Individual Levy Phillips attorneys are licensed to practice in the state(s) enumerated in their individual attorney profiles. As necessary, our attorneys are admitted specially (pro hoc vice) to practice in state jurisdictions throughout the country.

The determination of the need for legal services and the choice of a lawyer are extremely important decisions and should not be based solely upon advertisements or self-proclaimed expertise. Nor should it be based solely upon this website or any advertisement.

Your receipt of the information on this website is not intended to create, and receipt does not constitute, a contract for representation by Levy Phillips. This information is not intended to substitute for obtaining legal advice from an attorney. No person should act or rely on any information in this site without seeking the advice of an attorney.

Please be aware that the use of this website or the sending by a recipient of an e-mail message to Levy Phillips does not contractually obligate Levy Phillips & Konigsberg, LLP to represent you as your attorney. Levy Phillips cannot serve as your counsel in any matter unless you and our firm expressly agree, in writing, that we will serve as your attorney. Before Levy Phillips accepts retention its lawyers make a case-by-case assessment of your claims.

You should be aware that the Statute of Limitations (the deadline imposed by law within which you may bring a lawsuit) may severely limit the time remaining for you to file any potential claims you may have.

Links from this website do not state or imply a relationship between Levy Phillips and the linked entity.

All potential clients are urged to make their own independent investigation and evaluation of any lawyer being considered. Before you decide to retain us, you should feel free to ask us to send you free written information about our qualifications and experience.

Levy Phillips does not make any representations or offer any guarantee of case results. Past success in litigation does not guarantee success in any new or future lawsuit nor does it contain any representations that it can obtain the same results as reported in cases on this website.

To the extent the State Bar rules require us to designate a principal office and/or single attorney responsible for this site, Levy Phillips designates Robert I. Komitor, Levy Phillips & Konigsberg, LLP, 800 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10022, (212) 605-6200, as the attorney responsible for this site.

This web site may be considered advertising in some jurisdictions under the applicable law and ethical rules. In the event this material does not comply with the rules of a particular state, this law firm is not interested in accepting a client from the state who responds to this advertisement.